

Rights and Use

Zenodo DOI: <https://doi.org/10.5281/zenodo.20547058>

This repository is released under Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives 4.0 International (CC BY-NC-ND 4.0) unless otherwise stated.

You may

You may copy, download, mirror, cite, and share the files verbatim for noncommercial purposes, provided that:

- the author's name is preserved;
- the title and version are preserved;
- the license notice is preserved;
- no changes are made to the text;
- the work is not placed behind a paywall;
- the work is not used to sell access, belonging, training, initiation, or a branded program.

You may not, without separate permission

You may not publicly release translations, adaptations, abridgments, derivative editions, modified excerpts presented as a replacement text, commercial editions, courses, workshops, branded materials, audio/video adaptations, or any public modified version of the work without written permission.

Public translations require separate permission because a translation can change the architecture of the work. If a word becomes smoother in another language but loses the brake, the brake matters more than smoothness.

Quotation

Short quotations for commentary, review, criticism, scholarship, or citation are permitted where allowed by law and license terms. Preserve attribution and do not present excerpts in a way that implies endorsement, affiliation, doctrine, or institutional representation.

No doctrine, no representation

This work is literary-philosophical. Its mythic voices and symbolic figures are literary devices and pattern-names. They are not claims of spiritual authority, personal revelation, literal cosmology, institutional representation, therapy, technical AI-safety design, software specification, executable protocol, or policy system.

The author name marks provenance and responsibility. It is not a throne.

AI and machine use

Automated indexing, search, accessibility processing, and noncommercial archival mirroring are permitted where they preserve the text verbatim and do not create public derivative works. Do not use the work to train, market, or sell a derivative doctrine, chatbot persona, branded system, paid course, or spiritual/therapeutic product.

Repository note

Canonical repository: <https://github.com/emreertuhi/architecture-of-the-liminal>.